Personal

In my spare time, I learned different programming languages through self-study and I was very excited to learn more about them. I wanted to expand this knowledge! With this motivation, I've completed a practice-oriented training course PHP developer at VDAB Haasrode. Which led to an internship and individual professional education in the Belgian company Statik on which I became even more inspired. In the meantime, I have gained a lot of extra experience by creating websites independently as a Freelancer. For me, programming means creating something that people can use in a clear and intuitive way. I look forward to my next challenge!
